The easy upgrade of your alarm panel!

Even great alarm systems can be puzzling...

Security systems are installed everywhere. Intrusion alarm systems are part of the security of almost every office and also many private homes.

ATS Advanced alarm systems (also known as Aritech) are very popular. It is the intrusion systems of choice of many people worldwide. Considered a great system by many professional security installers.

But would you not agree that many customers sometimes struggle to use the panel? How many false alarms are generated because of user errors?

And would it not make sense to connect your intrusion alarm system to other parts of your security system or your home automation system?

Intuitive security and home automation

Dutch technology innovator Delightica created domox as an easy, but highly effective, upgrade of your Aritech / ATS Advanced alarm system. Our design goals were clear and simple:

1—Users must be able to manage the intrusion alarm systems with their iPhone.

2—Users must be able to easily monitor the video feeds of their IP cameras.

3—Users must be able to interface with their home automation system.

And security installers must be able to install, configure and reconfigure the domox systems swift and without hassle.

And this is exactly what we have accomplished!

The magic of domox

The domox solution consists of the domox controller that is installed in the local IP network and that connects the Internet.

The controller connects to all modern ATS Advanced panels. It automatically imports the alarm configuration. It also connects to home automation systems that follow the KNX standard.

The controller is als connected to the domox portal. Installers can remotely monitor and edit installations. We are very proud of the wizard that makes commissioning the solution very simple.

The domox control app runs on iPhones and iPads to monitor the system, including the video feeds from IP-cameras.

Your clients will love the app!

The Apple platform was selected for security reasons and the ability to deliver an app that truly puts the user in the driving seat.

The sense of control will appeal to your customer. The domox upgrade of their ATS Advanced alarm system turns their trusted intrusion detection system into a cutting edge solution to control the security and automation of their offices and their homes.

Intrusion detection, lights, audio-visual systems, HVAC and cameras: everything can be managed from the domox control app.
